50 HITS IN 55 SHOTS BY

G. W. U. ARTILLERISTS

Second Coast Unit Now Being Formed at University.

Shooting, at a range of 2,000 yards, during subcaliber gun practice this summer at Fort Howard, members of the George Washington University Coast Artillery Company, a unit of the District National Guard, scored fifty hits out of fifty-five shots, according to a report of operations submitted to Rear Admiral Charles Herbert Stockton, U. S. N., retired, president of the university, by Capt. Walter W. Burns, commanding officer of the organization.

The service practice was not so good, but was regarded as remarkably fine for a militia unit. Three trial shots were fired at 1,000 yards. The only shot for yards broke at 2,000 yards and the main body of the shell fell 24 yards short. All three of the trial shots would have hit a battleship and were so near in line that neither of the observers could detect any deflection. The second shot was only seven feet off.

Capt. Burns reports that a noteworthy feature of the summer outing and gun practice was the ability of the company to subsist at a cost of only twenty-six cents a day per man.

The report states that there was a shortage of cooks and that some of the students were compelled to preside in the kitchen. "The crowd was consistently," said Capt. Burns, "that a mentally trained man can learn cooking as quickly as he can mathematics."

A second coast artillery company now is being formed at the university, and it is expected that the new unit will be mustered in within several months.

"PEPCO" WILL APPEAL VALUATION RULINGS

Attorneys Prepare Data for Presentation in Court.

Data is being prepared for an appeal to the courts by attorneys for the Potomac Electric Power Company in the hearing before the Public Utilities Commission on the valuation of the company's assets being made by the valuation bureau. In yesterday's proceedings the corporation's counsel took exception to several rulings made by Commissioner Kutz, who declined to exclude from the record the testimony of Andrew Sangster, chief accountant of the bureau.

The testimony to which objection was made related to the elimination of the plant account of the old Potomac Light and Power Company by Mr. Sangster, who defended his procedure by contending that the plant and equipment no longer exist.

The commission will continue its hearings this week.

BANK DIRECTORATE DECISIONS ISSUED

The Federal Reserve Board yesterday began sending out its decisions in applications of national bank directors serving in interlocking capacities. It was announced at the Treasury Department, however, that the board may give special permission to certain directors to continue to sit on more than one bank board. The issue whether or not the banks involved in the interlocking arrangement are in competition. If they are, the directors are required to resign from all but one institution.

While the Reserve Board is granting many applications, it is looking for efforts of other directors to remain in positions which would give them a voice in the affairs of banks presumed to be competing with each other.

CONSUL CABLES MINE SUNK "COUNSELLOR"

The first official report to the State Department concerning the sinking of the British freighter Counsellor, which had an American on board, came by cable here that the vessel was sunk by a mine and not torpedoed by a German submarine, as had been reported from London.

Consul Frost, at Queenstown yesterday, cabled the department as follows:

"British freighter Counsellor, Harrison Line, San Francisco to Liverpool, with cargo of barley and lumber, sunk at noon, 14th, five miles southwest of Galley Head, by explosion. Admiralty believes by mine. No casualties. Frank Cattington, sole American on board. Wife at Atlantic City."

LANSING FRAMES PROTEST ON BRITISH EMBARGO

Following receipt of the first complete list of exports, England's new embargo prohibits from the United States to Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland. Secretary of State Lansing yesterday began assembling data for a drastic step on the part of this government. Official reports on Great Britain's plan of "rationing" the neutral countries' have been received from Consul General Skinner in London.

Consul General Skinner's statement that "the further export licenses or other facilities will be given until October 1, or until further notice by the British government," causes a belief in official circles that Great Britain intends extending the orders indefinitely unless the United States takes a stand that would make the extension "undesirable."

DRINKING WATER TESTS PLANNED ON RAILWAYS

The U. S. Public Health Service yesterday announced the beginning of a campaign to "force" railroads and steamship companies to furnish pure drinking water to passengers.

A special car, fitted up with a complete laboratory, will soon be put into operation by the department, in which health officials will analyze all the drinking water used by public carriers at the source of supply.

The car will also be used as an emergency carrier of health officials to parts of the country in which epidemics break out in the future.

LANSING DEMANDS NOTE ON NEUTRAL BLOCKADE

Secretary of State Lansing yesterday cabled Secretary Lauchlin of the American Embassy in London, to make a formal demand upon the British Government for "full and complete information" concerning the new British blockade orders which shut off American trade from the Scandinavian countries and Holland.

It was admitted in official circles that the request for the information is a preparatory step to a strong note of protest to Great Britain.
